6) Brief description of the Project

(Include key features of the design, maximum 1-page A4)

We bought Castle Gate House in July 2015 with the intention of immediately turning it back into a residence. It was last a residence in 1962.

The property was used as offices since this time and the number one priority was to add a proper kitchen to it, which other than a small kitchenette on the first floor, didn't have at all.

We worked over a period of 4 years with the local English Heritage group with the council ultimately rejecting our application. We won on appeal in 2019 and started the project in June 2022. We are busy with the last part, finalising the kitchen units and external decking which should all be ready by mid-end June.

The aim was to extend the house out the back in order to provide a decent sized kitchen that properly represents the rest of the house. This also making sure the original rooms remained untouched. This we were able to achieve with the appeal and have worked to keep the couple of original features we came across whilst building.

We have worked to try and create a seamless flow of features, i.e., beams/rafters so when one enters the lower floor dining area, the outside courtyard, now the internal extension, appears as part of the original house.

We have also retained certain features like the joists and original structure of the external bay window designed by Baillie-Scott in the early 1900's as part of the new room.

For any clarification or if you would like older photos, please let me know and I will add them to these.

7) Photographs of the completed project

Lounge - street level - lavatory.

Upstairs bathroom.

Our new shower room - was originally two rooms.

We also redid a hallway with 500 year old oak. As below.

Custom made door for the lounge.

This door we matched to the original door on the other side of the room - next photo.

Original door.

Have changed a fair number of doors - from white fire doors to these dark wooden old style with black ironmongery.
